WHO IS IT FOR?

- The team ships a feature and does not check how users use it.
- It is unclear how to represent research work in the Product Backlog.
- Experiments lose to feature delivery.
- User feedback does not reach product decisions.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS TAKE AWAY

After the training, the participant:

- integrates UX specialists into the Scrum Team,
- manages UX work in the Product Backlog,
- uses user feedback within the Sprint,
- bases product decisions on what users say.

PROGRAM OUTLINE

Day 1

1. How a cross-functional Scrum Team can work with UX specialists.
2. Capturing, ordering and managing UX work in the Product Backlog.
3. Balancing experimentation and delivery.

Day 2

1. Using user feedback during the Sprint.
2. Bringing user feedback into decision-making.
3. How UX supports decisions.

This is an outline. The trainer adapts it to the group's needs and experience.
